HILLTOP ECHOES

MR. S. H. BABCOCK
County Superintendent

On the 125th anniversary of the settlement of Harrisville Township it is fitting that there be given a little history of its schools. The first school was conducted in a small frame building on the Howe allotment in the western end of Lodi.

After several years of growth, the center of population moved and a new site on Bank Street near the village park was chosen where the primary grades were housed and taught. Soon a select school was added and several subjects taught that were not in the regular curriculum. In the later years in this growing community and while the schools were being conducted on the former two sites, an academy was erected on the highlands east of the village. For years this was an institution of higher learning doing credit to its managers and affording great benefits to the community. Soon more pretentious colleges arose in other sections of the country at such distances that patronage to the Lodi academy diminished. The trustees offered the property for sale to the village. The offer was accepted and the building converted to public school purposes.

Twice during the past twenty years two new and up-to-date brick buildings have been added to accommodate the youth.

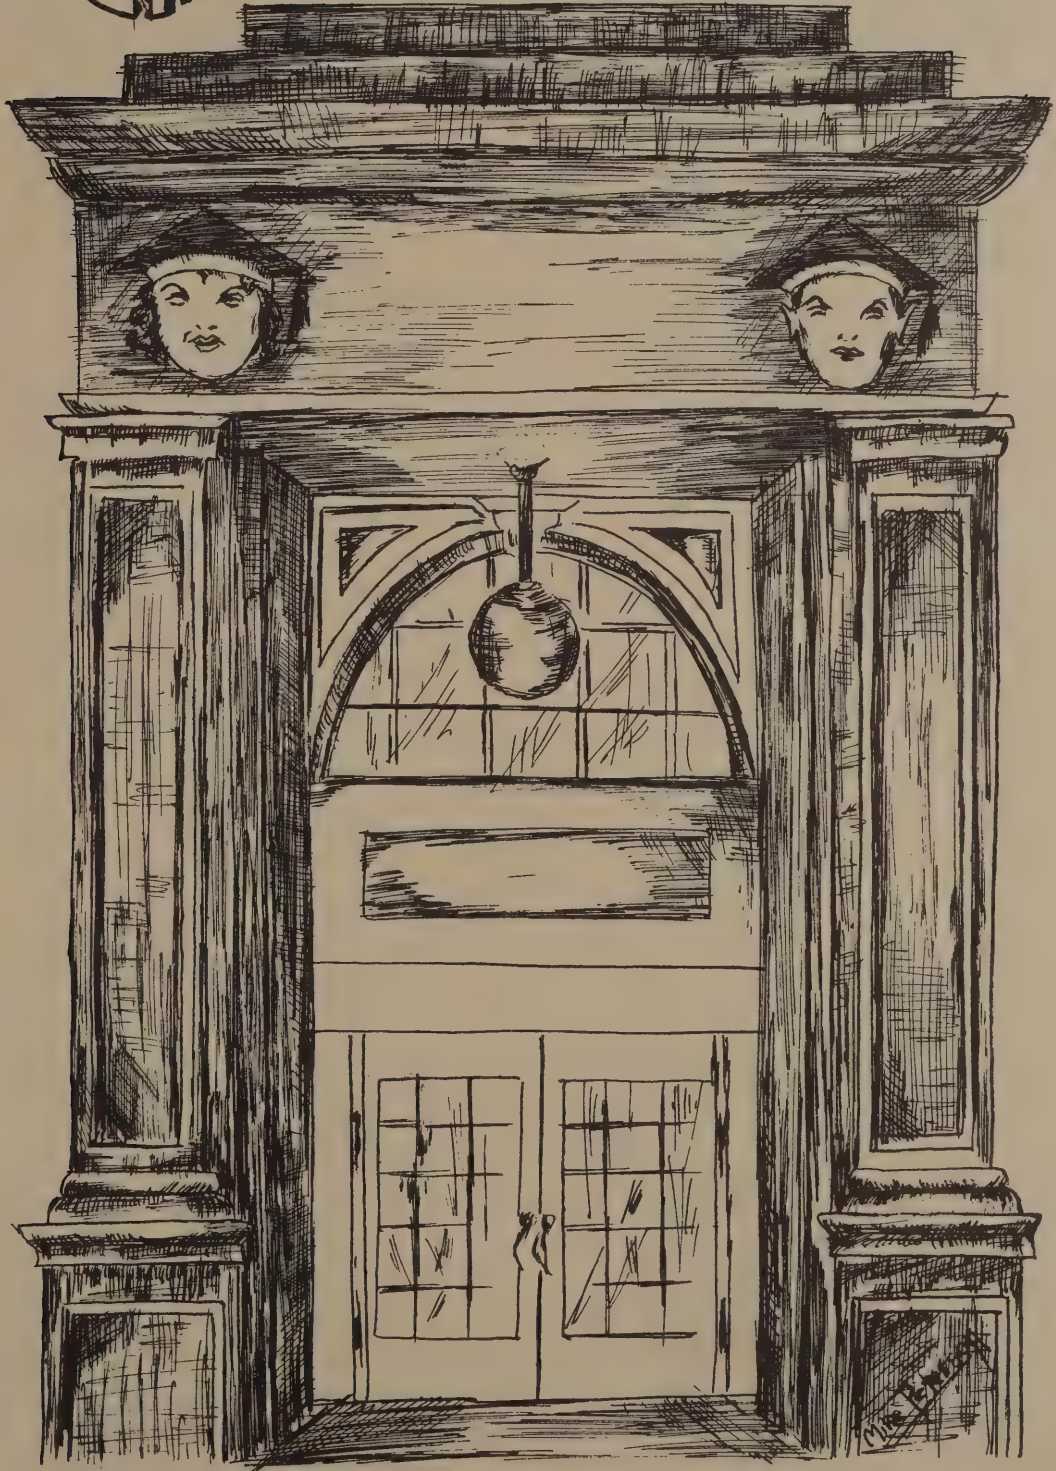

After the purchase of the old academy, in the year 1880, S. S. Thomas was elected the first public school superintendent at Lodi. For several years he filled this position and for two years was succeeded by Mr. Lee. Then came B. F. Hoover who filled the superintendency for ten years. Next in the procession was F. G. Mauer for two years. F. M. Plank and Mr. Elliott each for one year. After Mr. Elliott, J. F. Smith served as superintendent for ten years. For the next five years P. H. "Perry" Smith was head of the school. Then came C. A. Hostettler and later J. B. Hughes for three years as superintendent. He was succeeded by R. B. Snell who served in this capacity for five years. The latter three and the present superintendent had taught during the writer's affiliation with the school.

The school has presented a continued record of growth, but it was not until these later years that it has reached its heights of service to the community. Today the school is well directed under the able leadership of H. A. White. Besides the regular offerings in the grade and high school curriculum, there is a splendid commercial course, training highly efficient people for office work. A good industrial arts course has been developed and through a circuit plan of teaching the Board of Education has provided the finest art courses and the best music advantages that can be found in any rural or village schools of America.

This school in the thrifty right minded community of Lodi offers and will continue to offer the finest in educational values to its youth.

S. H. Babcock,
County Supt. of Schools.

Class History

Four things a person must learn to do
If he would make his record true;
To think without confusion clearly;
To love his fellow-men sincerely;
To act from honest motives purely;
To trust in God and Heaven securely.

—Van Dyke.

One beautiful September day of 1932, seventy-five young "upstarts" burst through the doors of Lodi High School and established themselves in rooms eleven and twelve. Under the supervision of Mrs. Behnke and Mr. Loomis, these young Freshman spent part of the year adjusting themselves to high school life, and little they realized how fast the time would pass until the title of "Seniors" would be theirs. Since their work was taken under the same teachers as the upper classmen, they felt that they were on the same level. How little they realized that vast difference there would be between the accomplishments of the Freshman and those of the Senior year.

The year 1933 saw the enrollment decreased a little. Mr. Martin was the teacher in the sophomore home room. Various pupils began to show their abilities and aptitudes. The boys made a showing in basketball when they organized the team called the "Comets." The members of this team were: Richard Kucinski, Leonard Falconer, Earl Patterson, Robert Leatherman, Judd Leatherman, Harold Clark, and George Pandur.

The junior year brought many more activities. One of the highlights of the year was the class play, "Here Comes Charlie," which revealed much latent dramatic talent. The cast of characters included: Doris Keener, Ralph Hoover, Judd Leatherman, Earl Patterson, Dorothy Behnke, Wilson Newell, John Gamble, Dora Snell, Maxine Yergin, and Ethel Egner. Another big event of the year was the annual banquet which was tendered to the seniors at the Odd Fellows Hall, May 19th. Supervisors for this year were Miss Tittle and Mr. Loomis.

And next came that eventful year when they were to leave their dear Alma Mater for a new adventure. Their supervisors for the year were Miss Mowry and Mr. Roehm. Following Mr. Roehm's resignation, Mr. Engleman assumed charge of one group of seniors. The last dramatic affair was the Senior class play on May 8th. The name of this dramatic affair was "Page Asa Bunker" and was coached by Miss Mowry; and at the time of going to press had not been presented. On May 22nd the Seniors "spiffed" up in their best bibs and tuckers, frills and ruffles to be entertained at a banquet by the Juniors. All the Seniors journeyed to the church on May 24th for the Baccalaureate service, and Commencement services were held May 29th at which time forty-three Seniors were given diplomas. There was keen competition for high scholastic honor which resulted in awarding first place to Jack Reed as Valedictorian and Wilson Newell as Salutorian. A number of students were successful in making the honor roll during their four year course. These were Dorothy Behnke, Hollis DeLong, Ethel Egner, Esther Falk, Ralph Hoover, Dorrine Sanders, Doris Keener, Judd Leatherman, Wilson Newell, Earl Patterson, Jack Reed, William Seeley, Gale Towslee, and Myron Voorhees. William Cotton went through high school without missing a day of school and only one day since he started in the first grade. He was the only pupil to do this.

Juniors

First in sports, first in school activities, first in intelligence, and first in the lives of its members; that is the Junior class.

First in sports and you can bet that the Junior girls don't take a back seat. Why? Because they won the interclass girls' tournament. Last year they won the Girls' School Track.

The boys also deserve praise for their achievements. Back in '34 and '35, Bob Reynolds and Raymond "Whitey" Esenwine made the second team. This year Bob made the first team while "Whitey" remained on the second team, with Freddie Toth, Walter Quade and Ellsworth Jameyson.

Many members make us rank first in school activities. Several boys belong to the Hi-Y and besides having several Juniors as members, the G. R. club boasts the following Juniors as officers: Evelyn Warner, Vice President; Lois McVicker, County Representative; Wilma Grimm, Treasurer; and Roberta Lance, Secretary. A number of the outstanding dramatic club members are Juniors and the Vice President is a Junior, Roberta Lance.

The debate team in '34 and '35 contained one of our classmen, Roberta Lance. This year two members were Juniors, Roberta Lance and Twila Freese. In orations of '34 and '35 the Juniors again showed their ability in presenting Lucille Oller and Twila Freese, who took second over some Seniors. This year a Junior, Bob Reynolds, is the only entry. When this year's newspaper staff was organized three Juniors: Roberta, Twila, and Wilma Billman, enlisted.

Many of our classmen joined the various musical organizations. One member, Roberta Lance was honored for her labor by a trip to New York with the others picked from the County Chorus.

Our knowledge is displayed by the following list of Juniors who participated in the All-County Scholarship Contest: Wilma Billman, French I; Roberta Lance, English III; Charlotte Stegman, American History; Evelyn Warner, American History and Twila Freese, Chemistry and English III. Last year we did as well with Roberta Lance going for Geometry and English; Betty Smith, Latin II and English II; Evelyn Warner, Latin II and History; Bob Reynolds, History; and Lois McVicker, Geometry. In the above subjects, Roberta took first in English; Betty, first in Latin II, and Evelyn Warner first in History. These people went to Kent but they did not place although they were in the selected list. Helen Hofstetter and Howard Sewell tied for third place in the bookkeeping division of the County Commercial test. They both went to Bowling Green.

Another event of '34 and '35 was a class party, Monday, Dec. 17. We also had charge of the Thanksgiving Assembly Program, as well as acting as the newspaper staff every third week. Events of '35 and '36 were a class party, Wednesday, November 27; Junior Class Play, December 6 and the Junor-Senior Banquet, May 22.

The cast for the successful Junior class play was Evelyn Warner, Ellsworth Jameyson, Genevieve Faulkner, Agnes George, Walter Quade, Martin Travis, Harold Wakefield, Isabelle Auble, Wilma Billman and Twila Freese. Our most praise-worthy coach was Miss Dorothy Tittle, one of our home room teachers. Mr. Harold Loomis was the home room teacher of our other section.

In '34 and '35 we had an enrollment of 52. The officers were Bob Reynolds, President; Lois McVicker, Vice President; Ruth Kindig, Secretary; Margaret Schempp, treasurer; and Helen Hofstetter and Chester Queberg, Student Council members. Of the 52 members last year, three were new. They are Betty Smith, Chester Queberg, and Twila Freese.

When we started school this year the attendance was 45. Eight of our former classmates dropped out but we had one newcomer, Walter Quade. Later in the year Denver Mendenhall left, but Bob Young came to make up for the loss. Our officers for this year are Chester Queberg, President; Evelyn Warner, Vice President; Phyllis Keener, Secretary; Lois McVicker, Treasurer; and Roberta Lance, and Bob Reynolds, Student Council members.

This has given you a review of the class activities for two years but very little has been said about personalities. No one needs worry that they will be forgotten for after all the energy the writer has spent getting keys to diaries and reading them when no one was watching—well, the writer just couldn't forget. We'll reprint here a few lines from each person's diary.

- Chester Queberg—"Wow! What a wreck!"
- Evelyn Warner—"I really don't see why we had to fight."
- Phyllis Keener—"I do wish the rest of the girls would leave their hands off."
- Lois McVicker—"Just think! Johnny called me 'Sugar.'"
- Roberta Lance—"I've definitely made up my mind."
- Bob Reynolds—"Gosh, but Phyllis was congenial this evening."
- Wilma Billman—"I honestly believe bus drivers are pretty nice guys."
- Wilma Grimm—"I gosh-heartily wish that I had a few less steirates."
- Wayne Bagley—"I wonder if Bethann likes my stibnite."
- Harold Wakefield—"Gosh darn! I'd like to break my New Year's resolution."
- Fred Schlechty—"I'd go to a LeRoy dance every night if I could meet someone like I met tonight."
- Ruth Kindig—"Ah! Do I like mayor nominees? And how!"
- Bernice Hagans—"I wish they wouldn't razz me about Gale."
- Bob Young—"Florida blondes can't be beat."
- Lucille Oller—"I don't mind baking cakes to fill my new cake pan."
- Charlotte Stegman—"Had my first date tonight and did we have fun!"
- Twila Freese—"A certain Senior has been nice to me lately."
- Bob Seal—"I enjoy driving Marjorie's new car very much."
- Marion Vandemark—"West Salem has the best men in the world."
- Donald Whitmore—"I like to eat with the Lafayette girls in the lunch room."
- Rose Zarkovich—"If Walter Quade were better looking I might fall hard."
- Archer Dague—"These Lafayette girls have me in a jam!"
- Marie Vandemark—"I like to worry about the boys."
- Richard Funk—"The roads toward Homerville are nice when the front seat is occupied by two."
- Isabella Auble—"I think of Les everytime I look at my watch."
- Ellsworth Jameyson—"Chippewa Lake is a pretty nice town."
- Anna Barsic—"I'll get to the top in typing yet."
- Mike Peterson—"Finished the Junior-Sophomore and Freshman title page today."
- Della Peterson—"I'll make Lodi proud of me and my art someday."
- Lelia Daniels—"I enjoyed making the 4-H poster."
- Steve Barsic—"What a birthday card."
- Agnes George—"Rah! Rah! for Rittman."
- Genevieve Faulkner—"No! no one from Rittman scratched me yet."
- Helen Hofstetter—"If it wasn't for Tootie, I might have a chance."
- Harold Leith—"Some show—'Mutiny on the Bounty'."
- Ellen Govare—"I'm awfully worried about HIS grandfather."
- Walter Quade—"I hate being called a skunk by a pickle-puss."
- Raymond Essenwine—"And to think I could have gone to the tournament if I hadn't thrown an eraser and got caught!"
- Martin Travis—"I'd much rather play basketball than eat meat loaf."
- Howard Sewell—"I'd like to take four years of mechanical drawing."
- Jimmy Stair—"I wonder if Peggy enjoys wearing my ring."
- Margaret Schempp—"I don't know who to go with tonight—a Junior or Jay."
- Betty Smith—"What I wouldn't give if I could study hard and get good grades."
- Freddie Toth—"I wonder if my face got red when I talked to Miss Tittle."
- Roland Musser—"I discovered in Chemistry today that the formula for barium is not B. O."
- Mr. White—"I'd just as soon there wasn't a Junior class to superintend."
- Mr. Hurd—"Those Juniors are O. K. when they don't act as seventh graders."
- Miss Tittle—"Chemically speaking, these Juniors have ability but not tenacity."
- Mr. Loomis—"Read the Juniors in my home room a fairy tale."
- Miss Supler—"I'm glad there aren't many Juniors in my Home Ec. Class."
- Mr. Cochran—"The Juniors are speedy typists, but they're pretty noisy."
- Mr. Engleman—"Some of the Juniors are fairly good public speakers."
- Miss Mowrey—"The Juniors are good in dramatics but no good in study hall."
- Miss Garbison—"What a joy to teach a Junior English class that has a good background."
- Miss Eppley—"I can find only one German Junior."
- Mrs. Behnke—"The Juniors afford a lot of business for me."

During the school year 1935-36, there were fifty-seven members in the Sophomore class of Lodi High School. Twelve of these members were students from Lafayette who are receiving their high school education at Lodi. The class officers were: Douglas Reed, president; Clara Belle Heath, vice-president; Evelyn Sanders, secretary and treasurer; Jean Crum and Charles Gould, student council members. Mr. Bloom had charge of the home-room. Since the publication of the last annual several new members have entered this class. Beulah Beltman from Tallulah, Louisiana; Beatrice Gotham from Chautauqua, N. Y.; Eleanor Conkey from Seville; Gladys Stuart from Chatham; and Richard Beard from Pennsylvania were among the newcomers. During the '35-'36 school term two of the members, Evelyn Hall and Marie Brehm transferred to other schools.

The Sophomore curriculum included English, World History, Latin and Geometry, taught by Miss Mowrey, Mr. Engleman, Miss Garbison, and Mr. Bowland, respectively. There were other students who preferred agriculture, biology, home economics, or manual training to several of the above mentioned. The Sophomores were very well represented in these classes taught by Mr. Bloom, Miss Supler, and Mr. Loomis.

The Sophomores were very active in the numerous clubs and student activities of the school. Many of the members of this class belonged to such organizations as the Hi-Y, Girl Reserves, Dramatic Club, Newspaper Staff, Mixed Chorus, Band, Orchestra, and Glee Clubs.

Two girls from the Sophomore class, Dorothy Sparr and Evelyn Sanders, were members of the girls' sextette which sang at various social functions.

Charles Gould belonged to a boys' quartette which had the privilege of singing at the meeting of the National Music Supervisors Association in New York City.

The Sophomore class was very proud to have three of its members gain places on the high school basketball teams. Jeff Gossard and Charles Gould played on the second team, and Jean Crum played center on the varsity team. Jeff and Jean were letter men this year and they should be commended on their fine playing during the basketball season. We are sure that they will be a great asset to next year's team. We were also proud to have Jean Whitright as one of the cheer-leaders this year.

The Sophomore girls' basketball team played many interesting games during the noon hour, as did the boys' team.

The class celebrated October 31 with a very successful Halloween party. Even the poor, unfortunate dish-washers admitted it was the best party the class had had for a long time. They even agreed that they would be more than willing to do a whole cupboard full of dishes if they could have another party as nice as that one.

The class was represented in the County Scholarship Contest by: Jean Crum, Jean Whitright in World History; Evelyn Sanders, Clara Belle Heath in Geometry; Evelyn Sanders, Douglas Reed in Latin; Clara Belle Heath, Jean Whitright in English; and Jean Crum in Biology.

Students of the Sophomore class who were on the "honor roll" at least one of the six-week periods were: Douglas Reed, Clara Belle Heath, Evelyn Sanders, Jean Crum, and Jean Whitright.

Freshman

On September 9, 1935, forty-six students enrolled in the Freshman class of Lodi High School. Of these, thirteen came from Lafayette and thirty-three from Lodi.

At the election held in the fall the following officers were elected: Martha Travis, president; Clifton Gentry, vice-president; Dale Hastings, secretary-treasurer; Fred Grannis, Student Council member.

In the Freshman course of study three subjects were required: English, algebra, and general science; and the pupils had their choice of the elective subjects: home economics, Latin, manual training, and agriculture. The teachers of the various subjects were: English, Mrs. Behnke; algebra, Miss Tittle; science, Mr. Hurd; home economics, Miss Supler; Latin, Miss Garbison; manual training, Mr. Loomis; agriculture, Mr. Bloom. Several of the students also took art and music.

The Freshman Commencement was held at the last general assembly of the high school. Diplomas were presented by Superintendent H. A. White.

Two class parties were held, one a Hallowe'en party, being held in the Home Economics room several days before Hallowe'en; the other, to celebrate Christmas, held in the home room the last two periods on Friday, December 20, 1935.

Those who represented the class in the County Scholarship Contest were: Ruth Konrad and Fred Grannis, Latin; Robert Tanner and Fred Grannis, science; Christine Hofstetter and Maxine Brunson, English; Christine Hofstetter and Ruth Konrad, algebra.

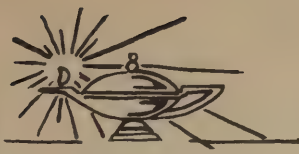

Freshman boys who played on the Junior High Basketball team were: Robert Tanner, Phillip Rice, Dale Hastings, Stanley Grimm and Victor McEnroe. This team was coached by Mr. Bloom.

Several of the boys were members of the Junior Hi-Y which was composed of Freshman and Sophomores boys under the direction of Mr. Bowland. This organization took many interesting trips to various places.

Some of the boys also belonged to the Boy Scout troop which was under the direction of Rev. Quade.

Other clubs and organizations to which Freshman students belonged were: Boys' Glee Club, Girls' Glee Club, Mixed Chorus, and Girl Reserves.

Students of the Freshman class who were on the Honor Roll at least one six-week period were: Maxine Brunson, Ruth Konrad, Myrtis Bowman, Christine Hofstetter, and Fred Grannis.

Varsity Has Excellent Season

The Lodi basketball squad of 1935-36 started the season with a group of thirty-seven optimistic and ambitious boys. The group contained four letter men of the previous year and a large number of tyros quite inexperienced but very confident. The team featured small, fast players as a general rule and after a few weeks of strenuous practice a first team of ten men was chosen by Coach Frank O. Hurd. This team consisted of the four letter men of the previous season, namely Harold Clark, Leonard Falconer, Judd Leatherman and Richard Kucinski. In addition to these boys there were Jean Crum, Bob Leatherman, Earl Patterson, George Pandur, Bob Reynolds, and Ralph Hoover.

Despite their small size, this team played one "five" after another, consisting of comparative giants, and brought home to Lodi another victory in each case. Brunswick, Liverpool, Congress, Spencer, team after team fell before them despite the handicap the Lodi "five" played under.

Coach Hurd with expert care built his team and cultivated it as the season passed. Late in the season a very tense game with Lodi's arch rival, Seville, took place. Feeling ran high and much excitement arose in each of the towns so that the Lodi gymnasium was packed to overflowing, on the eve of the game. The game was close and very exciting throughout. Finally late in the game Lodi gained the lead! From then on they scored several times and held their opponents scoreless so that this exciting game ended with Lodi in the lead 43 to 37.

In the next game the Lodi boys met the undefeated Sharon team. This contest was the most heart-breaking game of the whole season. These two undefeated "fives" clashed in the "games of games" and the unstable score toppled from side to side throughout the contest. Finally Sharon gained the uncertain lead of 8 to 6. The Lodi boys played their best, working the ball down the floor time and again only to have their shots poise breath-takingly on the edge of the basket for suspense filled moments, and then topple out into the waiting hands of the Sharon team. The game ended with Lodi behind those two fateful points—the only thing which stood between them and a perfect season.

In the tourneys bad breaks seemed to tag the boys and although defeating Sharon, their former victors, they still lost one game. This gave them third place in the Medina County Tournament. At Clearview they were then defeated by Clearview by the close score of 39 to 34.

Remarkable scoring records were run up by the two following: Falconer and Clark. Falconer making 186 points for the season and Clark 109. Clark also acquired a place on the Medina County all tourney team because of his excellent playing.

The second team had a remarkable good season winning eleven games and losing none. Judson led the scoring with 57 points, Towslee and Gossard took second and third with 37 and 34 points respectively.

Dramatic Club

OFFICERS FOR 1935-1936

President—Ralph Hoover
Secretary—Doris Keener

Vice President—Roberta Lance
Treasurer—Myron Vorhees

Adviser—Lucile Mowery

This is the first time the Dramatic Club has taken a bow in the School Annual, and it is very proud to have earned the honor of being recognized as a school organization.

The club was organized last school year and first won fame with the presentation of the Easter Play, "It Is I." The next public appearance was in a group of three one-act plays, the outstanding one of which was, "The Great Choice." The achievements for this year rest on the production of Dickens' "Christmas Carol," a modern interpretation of "The Courtship of Miles Standish," and an Easter Play. The Christmas play afforded an opportunity for all members to participate in some phase of dramatics.

The club not only produced plays but studied the fundamentals of dramatics by means of reports, illustrations, and the witnessing of play productions. Trips to Wooster and Cleveland were made to see plays.

Future Lodi High School dramatists will be reminded of this year's club work by the make-up kit which was purchased with funds obtained from the presentation of plays.

Those who assisted in organizing the club last year are: Maynard Briggs, President; Esther Mae Norton, Vice President; Justine Johnson, Secretary; Lola Lance, Treasurer.

Home Economics

SEWING

Home Economics

Cooking and Sewing—that is what Home Economics means to some people, but to us it has meant more. In the seventh grade we made simple articles until spring, then we made our own new dresses. We had many troubles, especially with the buttonholes, and too, with the sewing on of the buttons correctly.

Along with our sewing we had talks about improving ourselves. I never knew that brushing my hair would make it glossy. We also talked about the care of our clothes, and learned to mend our hose. In a way I'm sorry we did, for now mother makes me do my own.

Another thing we discussed was "getting along with people." When I have a quarrel with my schoolmates or sister, maybe it is partially my fault.

We were always anxious to be eighth graders, for there we could eat what we made. When we came up-stairs with some delectable looking cookies every one in school was our very best friend.

Fixing fruits and cereals isn't so very exciting but after we learned about the vitamins they contained, we decided that we just couldn't afford to miss eating them.

Many funny things happened in cooking. Occasionally a leavening agent was left out and then we had a pancake instead of the real cake.

We had discussions every Monday and often a talk about manners. There seemed to be so many to remember but when it was all summed up, manners are just being considerate of the other person.

The cafeteria was the main project of the freshman girls. Some didn't care to work there. We wonder if the dishes kept them away, for we did have a stack of them. At the beginning of the year we canned many things which the students brought in to exchange for lunch tickets. I hope I never see so many tomatoes again. We also sewed and during the year we made smocks, luncheon cloths, and crisp cotton dresses.

Very interesting demonstrations and picture shows were given on Home Nursing and Child care.

During the sophomore year we studied in detail, line, color and design so as to know the type of clothing we should wear. We were required to hand in two units during a six-week period—it made us hurry, as a simple dress counted as only one and a half. Each period we had a special project of making samplers, making of the various weaves, or collecting of materials.

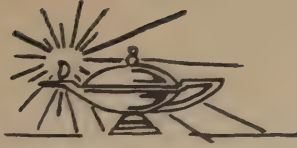

We spent one period studying and learning the various types of architecture. I used to think some of our old furniture was hideous, but now I find it interesting.

We learned how to judge good pictures and how to select them for our homes. Occasionally we had good musical selections played on the victrola and were told the story of them. Now I listen to good programs on the radio instead of jazz all of the time.

Dressing tables, kitchen or bedroom curtains, quilts, and other attractive things were made to beautify the girls' homes. We also made booklets of our "Dream Home."

In order to make our aims and motives clearer, we have listed them below:

1. To help pupils to develop physically, mentally, aesthetically, and socially.
2. To teach the fundamentals of selecting, constructing, and caring for clothing and home furnishings.
3. To give particular instruction in intelligent buying.
4. To teach an understanding of the relation of foods to health as determined by their nutritive value, their preparation and their appetizing quality.

Industrial Arts

The Industrial Arts Department of our school is known for its good work. Mr. Loomis has been the teacher for seven years, and for five consecutive years this department has won first place at the county fair. This speaks very well for the instructor and for the work of the pupils in the department.

Until rather recent years it was thought that a high school curriculum should be made up entirely of subjects such as English, Latin and mathematics. This attitude caused many pupils who had no aptitude for classical subjects to become discouraged with high school work and quit school before graduation. Boys and girls, like men and women, have varied interests. Some young people enjoy reading literature, others enjoy solving problems in mathematics. Still others enjoy working with their hands, making and creating objects of beauty and usefulness. Industrial Arts has been introduced in to this school to meet the needs of the pupils who enjoy making things, and who have talents for doing this.

It is not the chief objective of the Manual Training department to train for speed in production, but it is the objective of the department to train for accuracy in work. There is perhaps no place in school where honesty may be taught better than in the manual training room. Here the individual is placed upon his own merit. Here imperfection in his work can not be covered up and his finished product shows exactly what he has put into his work.

A boy who has completed an industrial arts course should be a better citizen. He should be able to make home repairs, to cane chairs and to make durable and attractive home furniture. He should be able to do for himself many things which pupils who have not had this training are unable to do.

Art Class

HILLTOP ECHOES

Art

The study of art is in itself a liberal education. The practice of art is one of the most satisfying means of self-expression. Art is the recorder of civilization; our knowledge of primitive man, his customs, his standards of living is determined by the quality of his every-day utensils.

An understanding of art makes life more interesting. To enjoy life we must be receptive and we achieve receptiveness through knowledge. The study of art raises the standards of taste. Taste in the home begets taste in the occupants.

Art is practical as life is practical. Art is impractical only to the uninformed. It touches everyday life in many ways.

This year Harold Hange, a former student of our school, has made good in the Columbus School of Art. Harold won a $150 scholarship for the work he had done in the four years of high school.

Edgar H. Blain, assistant county superintendent of schools as director of art had arranged for some exhibits at several different places this year. One was held in Nashville, Tennessee. Another was held at Kent State University.

There was an exhibit the week of April 13, at B. K. Elliott & Co., 733 Prospect Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Blain, Harold Hange, Wilson Newell, Louis Czeiter and Wayland Fetzer exhibited their work.

There was a new text book introduced in the school this year called "Art Appreciation." There is a class of 20 enrolled in this course.

We had, this year, the largest art class that had ever been enrolled. Some of the members of this same art class helped publish this annual.

The following people enrolled in the art class:

Freshmen:

Althea Hughes, Ruth Konrad, Martha Travis, Twila Darr, Lottie Summerton, Steve Pandur, Donald Martin, Dorothy Sewell, Leo Hall.

Sophomore:

An unusual musical organization known as the Medina County Oratorio Chorus was organized this year. Six boys and girls from our school belonged to this organization. During the year many fine programs were given in various parts of the county. The organization made such a good name for itself that it was chosen to sing at the Music Educators National Convention which was held at New York City during the week of March 30 to April 6, 1936.

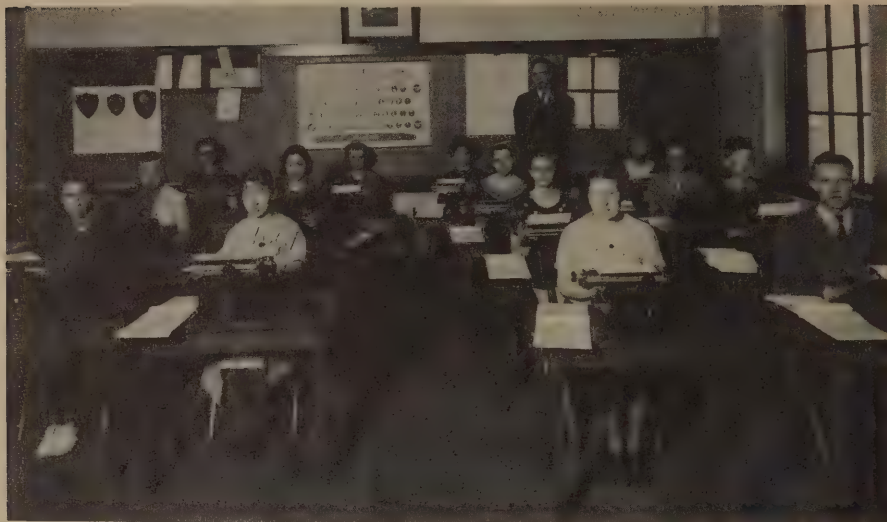

Sixty members of the chorus, picked from the original ninety made the trip, leaving Akron on the train early Monday morning, March 30. After a seventeen hour ride through the Allegheny Mountains and eight different states, the group arrived at the Jersey station at 10:30. From there they crossed the Hudson on a ferry and viewed the New York skyline by night. The boys and girls went directly to the hotels where they were registered; the girls to Times Square Hotel and the boys to Sloane House.

On Tuesday morning the members of the chorus became acquainted with their surroundings. After an early dinner, they took a sightseeing tour through Radio City and then passed through the beautiful St. Patrick Cathedral. From there the girls boarded a bus and viewed Fifth Avenue from the top of a double-decker bus. Wednesday morning was spent in rehearsing for the demonstration which was to be given on the roof gardens of Hotel Pennsylvania. Thursday, the group visited the ocean liner, Berengaria. In the evening we attended a show at Radio City Music Hall. Friday morning the group started on the homeward trip with a stop in Washington. Here they visited the White House, browsed a bit in the Congressional Library, saw both Houses of Congress in action and met Vice President Garner and Speaker Byrns, visited the Lincoln Memorial and also saw the famed cherry trees in bloom. At nine o'clock the chorus left Washington for the last lap of this wonderful trip. Tired? Yes, but happy.

Commercial Department

TYPING ROOM

Among the comparatively recent developments in educational theory is the one which holds that young people should receive specialized training in high school that will enable them more successfully to realize their life's ambitions. With that view in mind, a commercial department was established in Lodi High School a number of years ago, for the purpose of training students whose ambitions are inclined businesswise, in the fundamental skills of typewriting, shorthand and bookkeeping.

During the five years just preceding the present one, Lodi High's commercial department has more than justified its existence; for, during each of those years several commercial students have found it possible to secure excellent positions in the business world immediately upon, or soon after, graduation. Moreover, enviable records have been made by some of our commercial students in both the sectional and state contests held every spring. These records include state championships in "Mass Typewriting" in 1933, 1934 and 1935, and first place in the Medina-Wayne sectional commercial contests in the years 1931, 1932, 1933 and 1934. Furthermore, several individual students from Lodi have gained statewide recognition for themselves as a result of achieving high standings in the state contest finals, during each of the years mentioned above.

The commercial teacher during these years was Mr. M. C. Parent, and to him must go the major portion of the credit for the splendid results achieved under the auspices of his department, although our Superintendent, Mr. White, should also be lauded for co-operation unusual on the part of a school administrator, in the way of providing the best possible set-up for the activities of the commercial department. It was inevitable that Mr. Parent should eventually gain the recognition of some of the large high schools of the state as a result of his noteworthy accomplishments at Lodi. Hence it was that he, at the end of last year, was offered a position in the Lancaster, Ohio, High School, which he accepted, much to the regret of this community. He was succeeded this year by Mr. E. B. Cochran, formerly teacher of commercial subjects in the high schools of East Bank, W. Va., and Columbiana, Ohio. When this annual went to press we were unable to state the accomplishments of this year's class. However we feel sure that they will uphold the high standards of work achieved by former classes.

SCHOOL BEGINS AGAIN

School seems to be almost as much of a certain as death, taxes and the seasons. So, here we find ourselves again with books, pencils, and friends!

Everything began quite smoothly for Lodi School on Monday. The morning was taken up by the designation of students to their homerooms; assembly at 10:00; and a book bazaar.

At the opening assembly all students were welcomed by Superintendent White and then given a friendly address by Rev. Quade who reminded them not to be unprepared, as were the foolish virgins.

In the afternoon, the students went through the entire schedule of the day, with 20 minute periods for each class.

WON'T WE HAVE FUN?

The Junior class met Monday, October 14, at 11:30 a. m. They decided to have a class party Tuesday, November 27.

They also decided to give their class play on Friday night, December 4. The play has not yet been chosen, but it probably will be within a week.

The matter of class rings was discussed, and we found that number of people want to have one. On account of the fact that the possibility of not doing so, some think it for those people who want to have one, folks for money.

A NEW DEAL FOR STUDENTS

(Don't You Mean Miss-Deal?) If one would ask a high school student today, whether or not he had any private grievances against the teachers of the school, that student probably would double up his fists, stick out his jaw, and say, "You bet your sweet life, I have!" So, in the same manner of the government's "Brain-Trusters," we have a few theories that might remedy this condition. We suggest shorter classes and longer physical-ed. periods. Assigned lessons should be abolished, because like one's debts, they are

SOUL-CAREY ACT ENABLES SCHOOLS TO HAVE FILMS

This year a new feature has been brought into the Lodi schools, that of historical movies. Throughout the year, on special days and when outstanding topics are being discussed, a movie is shown. In this way, the subject under discussion is made more vivid.

INTERESTING ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS

A Successful School

There is located at Oberlin a business training school which has made a reputation for itself. It trains young men and women for the better class of business office and secretarial positions.

It was founded in the '60s following the close of the Civil War and is one of the oldest schools of business training in the U. S., having had 10,000 students during its long history of three quarters of a century.

Among its graduates are many who have reached high places in the business world. For some years it was called the Oberlin Business Institute; in 1885 the name was changed to Oberlin Business College, which it retained until 1925 when its courses were again enlarged, at which time the name was changed to the Oberlin School of Commerce.

It has been under its present management for over 50 years, a longer period than any other business school throughout the entire country.

With its college trained teachers, with graduation from high school its entrance requirement, with its strong courses, and by admitting only high school graduates and only at the beginning of terms, this school is in a stronger position than ever.

Young people who go to Oberlin for intensive business training will have as fine opportunities as can be secured anywhere in this country.

Every Other Person In Ohio!

When Captain Bligh's mutineers seized the good ship, The Bounty, and found a hideaway on Pitcairn Island, they had no use for telephones, banks or money. Theirs was a primitive existence.

But in the modern, thriving, orderly community, such conveniences are necessities.

Think of the people who would be affected, if there were no banks. Of the six million people who live in Ohio, three million persons have bank accounts. Over 700 banks, conveniently located, make it easy to take advantage of banking services.

You sit comfortably in your home or office and write a check, directing your bank to pay someone. You deposit money in a savings account and are assured of its safe-keeping—or you withdraw money, on a moment's notice.
